Floods Force Many From Their Homes

Swirling flood waters forced hundreds of families from their homes in parts of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Virginia in the wake of tornadoes that brought death and destruction to Dixie.

In the West high winds and blizzards closed roads in northern and eastern Wyoming.

The merciless March downpour and rising flood waters forced many from their homes in West Virginia communities. An unidentified man drowned near Logan when he tried to swim across a flooded road and the body of a teen-ager who drowned was found on the bank of the Tug River.

Evacuation continued through the night at Glenville, W.Va., as the Little Kanawha River continued to rise. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Wheeling, W.Va., said the Ohio River would crest at Wheeling Wednesday morning at 34 feet — two feet below flood stage.

At Weston, W.Va., National Guard units moved families from their threatened homes, while the Red Cross at Clarksburg — city of 30,000 — evacuated 70 families by mid-evening.

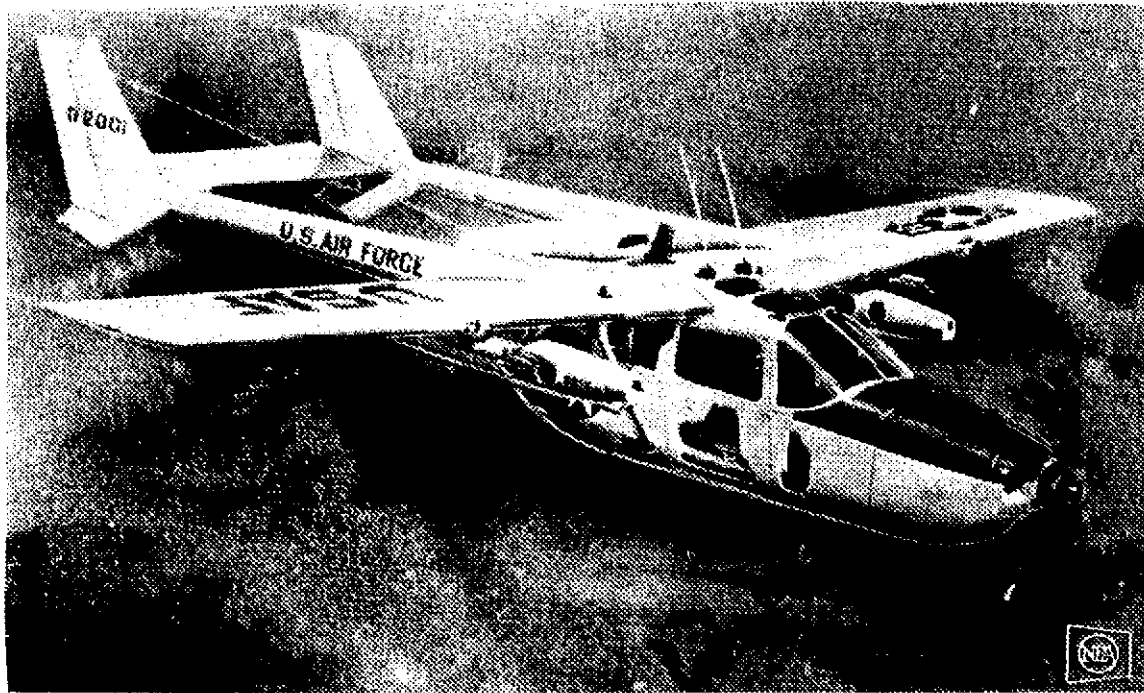

At Ripley, W.Va., fire department dispatcher Don Brubaker told newsmen: "Our rescue teams were using hip boots, but we had to go to boats when the waters of Mill Creek kept rising."

More than 4 inches of rain fell in 24 hours in West Virginia.

The rain-fed waters of the Powell River overflowed into a two-mile strip of Big Stone Gap's residential area in Virginia. Operations to evacuate about 100 families were put into effect by the National Guard. The Miss Virginia sewing factory was reported moving out materials and two small business firms in the flooded area also were ready to move.

Flooding forced the evacuation of some homes and blocked roads in low-lying areas along the headwaters of the Ohio River as western Pennsylvania braced for a predicted overnight accumulation of 10 inches or more of snow.

Forecasters said rivers in Pittsburgh would crest at flood stage of 25 feet today and from 5 to 6 feet above flood stage at communities upstream. The snow followed a weekend of steady rain.

NEW MOUNT for the aerial scouts of modern warfare is the O-2A aircraft being built for use by forward air controllers. The Cessna-built craft includes increased window area for better visibility in spotting targets, plus wing pylons for transporting rockets, flares, and a 7.62 minigun. Propellers are both in front and behind the main fuselage.

Lodge Wants Out as Envoy to Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, has asked to be replaced within the next few months, but the White House is having difficulty finding a successor, the New York Times said today.

In a dispatch from Saigon, Times correspondent R. W. Apple Jr. said friends indicated Lodge would like to leave Saigon late this spring or early in the summer.

"It's all news to us," said a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Saigon. He refused to comment further.

Lodge was in Manila attending a meeting of U.S. ambassadors stationed in Asian countries.

There have been recurrent reports recently that Lodge would resign. When he returned to the United States in December to spend Christmas with his family and to report to President Johnson, he denied he was quitting.

The Times article quoted "informed sources" as saying President Johnson's search for a successor "has proved more difficult than expected . . . so the ambassador's departure date has not yet been set."

It said Lodge would like to remain until after South Vietnam's new constitution, now being written, has been put into effect because he considers it "a major step forward not only for South Vietnam but also for American policy."

Beatnik Type President of Student Body

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Donald R. Smith, a bearded exponent of expanded campus freedom, takes office Wednesday as student body president at Iowa State University — until now a fairly placid and conventional sort of place.

A 21-year-old mechanical engineering major, Smith, who once thought highly of Barry Goldwater's politics, was elected on a platform pledged to quash regulations on student activities outside the classroom.

He also called for cheaper textbooks and lower room rentals.

The conservative element has been alarmed both by Smith's beard — a comparative rarity among the academic young of the tall corn country — and his stated aims.

Smith, cribbing a quote from the late Adlai E. Stevenson, said he just wanted to drag ISU "kicking and screaming into the 20th century."

"With the students behind me,

Death Comes to Singing Idol

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Nelson Eddy, 65, handsome singing idol of the '30s and '40s who, with the late Jeanette McDonald, formed one of the most beloved romantic teams of motion picture history, died Monday. Eddy suffered a stroke as he sang to some 400 listeners from a Miami Beach night club stage Sunday night.

we can get things changed," he said.

"I cannot see how locking a woman in her room at 10:30 every night is supposed to make her better able to handle social situations. Our present practice is just a matter of stalling off maturity for four years."

"I believe we should be allowed to grow up. So what if we do make a few mistakes?"

Smith said his liberal outlook is of recent vintage.

"In 1964 I would have voted for Goldwater had I been old enough. At that time I felt the conservatives did most to further the cause of personal freedom, he said.

"Later I saw the light. When conservatives talk about personal freedoms they really mean their own, not mine."

Now, Smith said, he would go to jail rather than serve with the armed forces in Vietnam.

Smith's father runs a rural cooperative in Rockwell City.

Asked what his parents thought of his views, he replied: "They're still sending money."

HUNGARIAN FROG LEGS

BUDAPEST (AP) — A total of two and a half million Hungarian frogs will migrate westward by train this year, destined for the plates and palates of French and Swiss gourmets. The news agency MTI said that Hungary had orders for 130 tons of frog legs from these two countries. The frogs are transported live in so-called "quacking wagons."

U. S. Students Far Behind in Mathematics

CHICAGO (AP) — An international study of how well students in 12 countries learn mathematics puts U.S. pupils near the bottom of the list. But don't blame it on the "new math," one authority says.

Benjamin S. Bloom, professor of education at the University of Chicago, reported Monday that students who had been exposed to "new math" did considerably better than those with traditional math.

"But," he added, "relatively few students tested had been exposed to the new math, so we can't draw any general conclusions."

The study, conducted by the International Project for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement, showed that the United States is among the least effective of 12 countries tested in developing mathematics talent.

Educators cited the highly comprehensive education system in the United States and lack of opportunity to learn some phases of mathematics as reasons for the poor showing of American students.

Dr. James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University and noted critic of America's educational system, declined comment on the study because he hadn't read it. He did say, "I think that making comparisons on the basis of tests is very tricky."

The project tested some 133,000 students in 12 countries in what is believed to be the largest international educational research project ever undertaken. Japan appeared to do the best overall job of mathematics instruction in public schools.

"The differences (between countries) really begin to show up at the seventh- and eighth-grade levels," Maurice L. Hartung of the University of Chicago told a news conference. Hartung was one of five American educators who participated in the project.

"There is an implied indictment in this study of our eighth-grade math teachers," said Arthur W. Foshay, a professor and assistant dean of the Teachers College at Columbia University.

Other countries taking part in the study were Australia, Belgium, England, Finland, France, Israel, The Netherlands, Scotland, Sweden and West Germany.

LIMITED WEDDING PARTY

Dear Helen: I'm going to be married in about a year. Like any girl, I want a gorgeous white gown and to walk up the church aisle on my father's arm.

But here is my problem: My very closest friend is of another religion, and I don't think it would be proper for her to take part in my ceremony. I don't have any other really close friends or relatives old enough to be in the wedding party. My mother says to ask Miss R., but I don't know her very well, except through church, and she never grooms herself. I'm afraid she might make me ashamed on my wedding day, by being a Maid of Honor with hair looking like a fright and no heels.

Can you have a church wedding without any attendants? — O. E. R.

Dear O.: . . . Possibly, but it would be as incomplete as a mini-skirted bridal gown.

Why not ASK your close friend. Seems to be you're building an unnecessary wall. She doesn't need to embrace your religion, simply because she is in your wedding party. — H

AMERICAN SINGER Dinah Shore looks like any other tourist, camera in hand, as she tours Moscow. She was on her way to Minsk, to be guest hostess for an American television program on the Moscow State Circus.

Dear Helen: All my folks think about is for me to get into a career that "makes money." I don't happen to think money is that important—it just causes a lot of worries about income tax and stuff. My idea of a good life is to travel around and work whenever I need something, but not go after the dollar like it was a god. They think I'm a beatnik. What do you think? — NON-C INFORMIST

Dear Helen: I think I know what your answer will be: forget her. Believe me, I've tried. For the past year I've tried.

She thought we would hit it off just fine. For three weeks, we did. Then she dropped me cold.

I've told only one other person (besides you) how I feel. That is my best buddy. The same thing happened to him, with another girl.

So we're both in the same boat. I've had eight female companions since then but they're so much water over the dam.

If it helps any, my age is 15 and it is NOT infatuation! — L. E. O.

Dear L: When a boy wants to win a girl back, he must prove he is no longer the boy she dropped. Show her how foolish she was, by making a name for yourself at school. Get ambitious. Get involved. Get KNOWN as the guy any girl would want to date. It will take a while, but if you work at it, by next year, she'll be waiting in line . . . And by that time, I'll bet you really will have forgotten her! — H.

Dear Helen: This is a letter to "Overworked." I am in the sixth grade now and I don't think that a 10-page term paper is that much at all. Last year our teacher gave us a term paper to do that had to be at least 15

THE LEGEND OF THE FIRST FLOWERS

Flowers, nature's most beautiful and wonderful creation . . . where did they come from?

According to legend, when God created the earth . . . and it was finished. He made a large rainbow. All the angels walked out onto the rainbow to look at earth. Their weight caused the rainbow to crack, and small fragments fell on the earth . . . these tiny bits were the first flowers.

We will be writing this column titled "Flower Talk" in this newspaper. Our writing will be about different flowers and how you can effectively use and enjoy them. Won't you join us . . . and in the meantime if you need flowers call us at (PR 7-2631)

Fashion Tips

Colorful Legs

Leggier legs this spring and summer call for colors like gold, raspberry, orange, teal blue, pistachio, silver and bisque. Add to your colorful legs the brilliance of patent shoes in matching or contrasting shades.

Tame Those Eyebrows

To tame eyebrows, coat them with a light film of soapuds. The suds won't show when dry. Finish the treatment by brushing them upward and out.

Leachville Still Best in Cage Poll

Leachville, a Class AA powerhouse, today captured the 1966-67 championship in The Associated Press Arkansas high school basketball poll.

The Lions, 32-1 for the year, received nine first place votes and 117 points from a panel of 12 sports writers and broadcasters.

It marked the second straight year for a Class AA team to win the AP poll.

Harrison won the crown last year and placed second this year, getting the other three first place votes and 102 points. Harrison has a 31-1 mark, but was unbeaten when the final poll was released a year ago.

Blytheville, the only team to beat Leachville, placed third with 87 points. Leachville defeated the Chickasaws twice.

North Little Rock finished fourth with 84 points and Fort Smith Northside was fifth with 82 points.

Rounding out the top ten in order were Green Forest, Jonesboro, Taylor, Springdale and Whitehall. Green Forest won the Class A senior boys championship and Taylor the Class B title last week.

Results of the final poll, with first place votes and team records through Saturday in parentheses and total points at right:

1. Leachville (9) (32-1) 117
2. Harrison (3) (31-1) 102

Providence's Walker Likes The Garden

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Madison Square Garden always brings out the best in Jim Walker, Providence's All-America backcourt flash — and Walker at his best is a revelation.

The slick senior, No. 2 scorer in the country with a 29-point average, has captured two straight MVP trophies in leading the Friars to Holiday Festival basketball titles at the Garden in 1965 and last December.

Saturday afternoon, Walker and the Friars open their bid for the National Invitation Tournament crown, which Providence won in 1961 and 1963. The first hurdle is defense-oriented Memphis State in the opener of a first-round doubleheader that also matches New Mexico and Syracuse.

Marshall meets Villanova and St. Peter's, N.J., takes on Southern Illinois in Thursday night's tourney-opening twin bill. Marquette goes against Memphis State and Rutgers tangles with Utah State Saturday night, completing the first-round action.

Two more entrants, the still-undetermined runners-up in the Big Eight and the Atlantic Coast Conference, begin play in Monday night quarter-final games.

Walker is perhaps the best one-on-one performer in the college game. But the 6-foot-3 scorer-playmaker found himself overmatched on his home court by Villanova's tenacious zone defenses three weeks ago.

"Walker took 20 shots over that zone and made only two of them," Providence pilot Joe Mullane recalled Monday. "We lost the game 55-52 and afterward someone told me that a couple of our loyal fans were crying. 'Get that stuff out of your mind and see and half.'"

Walker must have heard them. He came back and scored 47 points, then 46, in the next two games. And each of those two teams played zones against us."

Walker doubtless will get special attention from Memphis State, whose first-year coach, Hank Ba Jr., learned his defensive lessons well from his father at Alabama State. The Tigers have allowed only 53.7 points

Jones Plans to Retire From Celtics

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — K.C. Jones, retiring from the Boston Celtics to enter the coaching ranks, is hoping to leave the National Basketball Association as a champion — the way he came in nine years ago.

Although kidded as the worst shooting pro in basketball, K.C. wants one more NBA title before he assumes his duties at Brandeis University in nearby Waltham.

"Just one more, that's all," the 34-year-old backcourt ace said Sunday after being honored with a day at halftime of the Celtics' 130-105 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

K.C. who turned over about $2,500 in proceeds from a testimonial dinner last spring to the Children's Cancer Research Foundation, was presented an expensive new car, a color television, a basketball trophy and other gifts by the Celtics' management, teammates, friends and neighbors.

Jones played on two national championship teams with Bill Russell, now player-coach of the Celtics, at the University of San Francisco. The pair then combined to lead the United States to the Olympic title before K.C. entered the Army for two years.

After his discharge from the service, K.C. tried out with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League. However, he became homesick for his old buddy and roommate, Russell, and joined the Celtics in 1958. Boston has won the NBA title ever since.

On his day before a paid crowd of 12,396 and a national television audience, K.C. played his usual game against the Lakers. He hit on one of six floor shots, grabbed two rebounds and was credited with four assists, but his defensive work was tremendous.

In other games Sunday, New York beat the Warriors 115-103 at San Francisco, the Hawks drubbed Baltimore 132-103 at St. Louis, Philadelphia whipped Detroit 131-106 on the 76ers' home court and Chicago took Cincinnati 113-106 at Chicago.

Wilt Chamberlain had a season low 10 points, but Hal Greer had 31 and Billy Cunningham 24 in Philadelphia's easy victory. Zelmo Beatty scored 38 points in leading St. Louis to its victory.

Chicago put on a last-quarter rally to whip Cincinnati and move within one-half game of Detroit in the fight for the fourth and last playoff spot in the West.

The Bulls went ahead to stay on a jump shot by Erwin Mueller, and Jerry Sloan's basket with 30 seconds left clinched it. Oscar Robertson had 37 points for the losers, Guy Rodgers 29 for Chicago.

Willis Reed poured in 43 points for the Knicks while league-leading scorer Rick Barry of the Warriors had only seven. Barry jammed his thumb and sat out the last period.

In Saturday night's action, Cincinnati turned back Baltimore 109-102, Chicago edged St. Louis 125-122 and San Francisco whipped New York 111-102.

per-game — the second best defensive record among the nation's major teams.

Among other standouts likely to battle Walker for individual honors in the 30th NIT are Rutgers sharpshooter Bob Lloyd, 6-foot-9 Mel Daniels of New Mexico, Syracuse's George Hicker, Tulsa's Eldridge Webb, Southern Illinois' Walt Frazier, Utah State's Shaler Hallimon and Marshall's George Stone.

Crossett Defeated in State Play

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Top-ranked Leachville and No. 2 Harrison, the co-favorites, see action today as the first round of the Class AA senior boys state basketball tournament continues at Barton Coliseum.

Leachville battles Van Buren at 2 p.m. while Harrison takes on Helena at 6:30. In another game, Smackover battles Benton at 9:30 p.m.

In Monday's opening games Russellville tripped Crossett 55-44, Valley Springs defeated Trumann 69-54 and Searcy defeated El Dorado Washington 75-53.

Jim Marsh scored 22 points as Russellville, now 32-4, overcame a 15-8 first quarter deficit. Kenny Jonson paced Crossett with 12 points.

Four players, led by John Bryant's 16 points, scored in double figures as Valley Springs registered its 33rd victory in 40 games. Trumann led 29-24 at halftime.

Lynn Parnell scored 18 points and three of his Searcy teammates hit in double figures. Billy Barnes led Washington with 16 points. Searcy is now 21-5 for the season.

Vols Almost Extended Too Long

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Tennessee Volunteers, trying to extend their basketball season, almost overdid it.

Going to extremes to win their first Southeastern Conference title since 1943, the Vols muddled through three overtimes and barely missed a fourth before squeaking by Mississippi State 78-76 at Starkville Monday night.

Now, instead of being further delayed by a three-way playoff for the SEC crown, the Vols can move directly into the NCAA postseason tournament.

Kansas took a much shorter, although precarious, route into the tournament by holding off Colorado 66-59 at Lawrence in regulation time.

But while Tennessee and Kansas ended their conference races, the Big Ten competition stretched on and on.

Indiana and Michigan State each won and remained tied for first place, which will be decided by their final games Saturday, if then.

Each has 9-4 league marks after the Hoosiers staggered past last-place Michigan 96-90 at Bloomington, and the Spartans shook off host Minnesota 67-59.

Eighth-ranked Tennessee, which meets the winner of Saturday's Western Kentucky-Dayton game in the Midwest Regional March 17, needed two Spurrier if the draft is strictly free throws by Bill Justus with legitimate and the stories that the Florida flinger is reserved for the New York Giants aren't so.

State's Dave Williams almost kept it going, but his shot missed at the final buzzer.

The final game victory gave the Vols a 15-3 conference mark No. 1 choice, plus center Bill Curry, obtained last month from Green Bay in the veterans' pool. Fears, New Orleans' head coach, would not say what round the other draft choice was.

Cuozzo comes to the Saints along with Butch Allison, 22, a guard who played on the taxi squad last season after being the Colts' No. 2 draftee in 1966.

It was no secret to Cuozzo. He had asked to be traded. "I'm very glad to be given the opportunity to play," said the 6-foot-1, 195-pounder in Memphis, where he attends the University of Tennessee dental school in the off-season.

"I had an agreement with the Colts to trade me," he said. "I don't think I could have gotten to play regularly — barring unforeseen injuries — so I'm pleased about the trade."

Barry Not Only New Cage Name

NEW YORK (AP) — With the Hoosiers took the lead for good National Basketball Association at 89-88 and Vern Payne and season drawing to a close, it's Bill Russell split four free beginning to look as if Rick Barry and Joyner hit a three-point shot that ends up leading a major Michigan State broke a 50-50 tie on Matt Aitch's three-point shot.

Barry of San Francisco has played a basket by Lee Lafayette scoring time wrapped up with it. Tom Kondia paced the Go-Go 36.3 point per game average players with 27 points.

Indiana hosts Purdue and Indiana of Philadelphia, who has State entertains Northwestern led the league in scoring the last Saturday. Should both fall, the seven years.

Adrian Smith of Cincinnati is cousin match could make it a well ahead in the free-throw three-way tie.

Would Curb LBJ's Draft Authority

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee says Congress should curb President Johnson's authority to set military draft procedures.

Rivers' comment came after Johnson's message to Congress Monday asking an extension of the Selective Service law, and pledging sweeping changes in the draft to be accomplished by the end of the year.

Speaking against the bill were Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock, a member of the law firm that includes William J. Smith, a former legislative assistant of Johnson, and Sen. Clarence Bell, public relations man for one of the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. subsidiaries.

The House approved several budget bills. The representatives, meeting as a committee of the whole, gave a "no" vote to a bill increasing the gasoline tax on given trucks, but Rep. Bill Wells of Birmingham probably killed the bill by getting the House to defer action until Wednesday, one day before the scheduled sine die adjournment.

In other action Monday, the Senate:

—Approved 84-14 a bill to provide school districts with 50 percent of their legal expenses in desegregation suits.

—Approved 83-14 a bill requiring a $100 annual license fee for school buses powered by liquefied petroleum gas.

—Approved 84-14 a bill requiring state Penitentiary officials to notify the sheriffs of Lincoln and Jefferson counties of escaping prisoners.

—Approved 84-14 a bill establishing a state committee on Stream Preservation.

—Approved 83-14 a bill requiring counties to publish semi-annual financial statements.

—Approved 81-14 a bill prescribing punishments for habitual criminals.

—Approved 89-14 a bill to permit city utility companies to make payments to local school districts in lieu of paying taxes.

executive order. Johnson's call for a national lottery to replace current selection of draftees by local boards drew fire from Rivers.

"There will be no lottery if I have anything to say about it," the South Carolina Democrat said.

He indicated he'll push to have his committee amend the draft law to require the continuation of draft boards. The Armed Services Committee will open hearings in April on extending the law.

LL. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, said he is taking immediate steps to put into effect reforms recommended by the President. But Johnson said many of the changes he proposed may not go into effect before 1969.

Johnson's message on the draft drew mixed comment from congressional leaders. Most appeared to favor his plan to draft 18-year-olds first, but few seemed pleased with the lottery proposal.

All exceptions was Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who earlier this year suggested the lottery concept and urged Johnson to put it into effect by executive order, rather than waiting for action by Congress. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he thought the proposals "are in the interest of equal treatment, but that doesn't solve the problem."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the proposals "need a good deal of scrutiny and some straightening out."

QUICK QUIZ

Q—When is a plant planted as an orchard?

A—The term is applied to a plant which reaches maturity and completes its life cycle during the first season of growth. After producing flowers and ripening seeds the plant dies.

Q—How far from Siberia is the city of Nome, Alaska?

A—168 miles away.

Q—What was the first military use of the flag of the United Nations?

A—Adopted in 1947, the flag was first flown by armed forces at war in July 1950, when the Security Council authorized its use by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Korea.

This Time the CIA Was Being Probed

By WALTER E. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The man pulled tight his black raincoat and walked into the night. His interrogator told a newsman "It's none of your business" what went on.

A Central Intelligence Agency operation?

Well, sort of — but this time the CIA was being investigated, not being the investigating.

A covert probe by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had the CIA under surveillance despite the opposition of Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

Mansfield said once again there is no need for a special investigation of the CIA and its subsidies to the National Student Association.

But the Foreign Relations Committee spent three hours Monday questioning two former NSA leaders involved in the uproar over CIA subsidies.

In thick and foggy fashion, the witness was dismissed before the second was interrogated — and nobody said a word about what went on.

"We've had an executive meeting and I don't care to comment on it," said Chairman A. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

Pressed for an account of the session, he replied "It's none of your business."

Moments later, Philip Scrantom, 24, a former NSA president, emerged from the committee room. He wouldn't talk either.

"I think it would be best not to do so," he said, walking in his black coat from the Capitol into the rainy night.

The first witness was Michael Wood, 24, who once was in charge of NSA fund raising. It was Wood who went to Ramparts magazine with the explosive story of CIA financing.

The committee session was not announced. Fulbright did his best to keep it that way. Earlier, asked what was going on, he said, "Nothing."

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., blew the cover. He said Wood was being questioned.

Soviet Fish Captain Fined $5,000

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A Soviet fishing captain was fined $5,000 in District Court for fishing in U.S. territorial waters was taken with his crew today.

Judge James A. McDevitt levied the fine Monday against Nikolai G. Derov after the Russian pleaded to convict in a charge of violating territorial waters.

Derov was given 30 days to pay the fine or was to have his boat seized and taken to the United States.

After the fine was imposed, the Coast Guard Capt. Derov and his crew were taken to the Alaska Peninsula. The vessel was escorted to the U.S. coast by the U.S. Coast Guard cutter, the USSC-10, and the U.S. Coast Guard cutter, the USSC-10.

The two were taken to the Coast Guard cutter, the USSC-10, and the U.S. Coast Guard cutter, the USSC-10.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

If You're Accident Prone,
Dig Deep for the Reason

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With the accident rate, especially that of traffic accidents, continuing at an alarming level more and more attention is being paid to accident proneness. Exact figures on this are hard to determine. Some observers believe that the degree of accident proneness varies not only in different persons but also in the same person at different times. Thus a person who is not unusually accident prone is more likely to have an accident when he is overtired, worried, drunk or in poor health.

It is not surprising that the young are more accident prone than their elders. This is due in part to their inexperience and in part to the fact that persons who are not accident prone have a better chance of surviving to become elders.

In one group of 58 men who had been seriously injured in accidents investigations were made to determine to what extent the accident was the fault of the victim. In addition to this, psychologists gave each victim a personality test. Comparisons were made and it was found that the victims whose own rash behavior had been a factor in their accidents also had personalities favoring impulsive action.

In these persons physical rehabilitation was supplemented with efforts to adjust the victim's personality. The latter type of rehabilitation is admittedly very difficult but the effort should be made if the victim is not to go through life endangering himself and others.

Q—Is Aristocort mostly cortisone?
A—Triamcinolone (Aristocort) is a synthetic cortisone. Like all drugs in this group it should be taken for brief periods only, because of the danger of developing peptic ulcers, softening of the bones and other side effects.

Q—I am taking prednisone for asthma. Would it cause my hair to turn gray?
A—Drugs of the cortisone group, of which prednisone is one, may cause a growth of hair on the face in women but it will not cause graying.

Q—Will Cortalex benefit low blood pressure? My doctor says this drug does not cause the undesirable side effects produced by other cortisone-like drugs. What do you think?
A—Cortalex is a mixture of adrenal cortical extract and vitamin C. It will cause some increase in blood pressure. Since it is less active than hydrocortisone it would be less likely to produce side effects but it has been largely superseded by the newer adrenal cortical hormones.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

The Ambassador and the Baby

Not long ago, in an American courtroom, a young woman filed a paternity suit against the ambassador of a foreign power. She said that she was expecting a baby, that the ambassador was the baby's father, and that he ought to start paying some bills.

But the court refused to hear the woman's complaint. The judge pointed out that any proceedings against the ambassador would violate his right to diplomatic immunity.

Does a foreign ambassador live a charmed life in this country, safe from punishment by our courts? Could he even commit murder and get away with it? Does diplomatic immunity allow diplomatic impunity?

Generally speaking, that is indeed the situation. He is not subject to the jurisdiction of either our criminal or our civil courts. In fact, the immunity of an ambassador is so broad that it also covers his family, his aides, and — to some degree — even his domestic help.

The reason is both simple and powerful:

We keep hands off the ambassadors of other countries so they will keep hands off ours. That way, both sides benefit. For the work of an ambassador may be seriously hampered if he (or those close to him) could be harassed by charges and claims that might or might not be justified.

And experience has shown that by and large, despite their immunity, diplomatic personnel don't just run wild. As a practical matter, there are powerful restraints tending to keep them in line.

For one thing, an ambassador's home office is not likely to look with favor on any mischief-making. An envoy who, for instance, won't pay his grocery bills is certainly not winning friends for the country he represents.

For another thing, our State Department may take the initiative by lodging a complaint with his government. If that does not help, we may also declare him "persona non grata" and ship him back home.

Furthermore, as a man of stature, an ambassador may feel a strong sense of personal responsibility. He may, for example, care out liability insurance to compensate possible victims of his bad driving.

In any event, the basic concept of diplomatic immunity has proven so useful that it is surely here to stay. It is recognized by every country on earth. And its roots go back to the very dawn of history.

Our City Streets But No Federal 'Money' Please

Editor The Star: I'm writing about the color picture you had in the paper Friday, March 3. It was a real nice picture but there was one thing that hasn't changed, except for the worse. I believe the streets today would even be bad for the horse and buggy.

What does a town this size do with the money that is or should be used on the streets? The city has even gone to the expense to hire a city manager to take care of the city (doesn't that include the streets?). A person in Hope should have his tires balanced and wheels aligned every week. Maybe the city should put in a shop for wheel-aligning-and-balancing—it wouldn't take long to get some money to put on the streets.

This was just a thought, but I have often wondered about it. We have a lot of folks from other states who come to visit, and the first thing they say is, "What kind of people do you have in the city that have streets like this?" I just tell them we wonder the same thing. We, the people of Hope, have nothing to say about who takes care of the streets. Don't you believe something could or should be done about them? Thank you.

MRS. PATSY KENNEDY
March 4, 1967
1302 S. Elm St.
City

Mrs. Kennedy's letter may not endear her to the folks in city hall, but they're not especially fond of your editor either on the subject of city streets; and, finally, what I am going to write won't suit Mrs. Kennedy entirely—so we have confusion and disunity all the way around.

First let me state that to the best of my knowledge the city has very little money specifically and exclusively for streets. Street revenue from a share of the property tax and collections from the parking meters is pitifully small. If we are to have good streets someone has to come up with a big wad of new money.

City hall and your editor tell out some years ago when the authorities held a mass meeting to promote a street-paving program financed three ways: By the Water & Light Plant putting up the city's contribution; property owners paying a substantial chunk — and finally, a $250,000 "federal grant."

That "federal grant" was what tore it for me. Here were local government and citizens putting up hard and solvent dollars and we let in on the deal as our equals the bankrupt Washingtonians with their Confederate debt dollars! Or, stating it another way, why should a solvent city lean on a debt-ridden central government instead of resolutely and honestly borrowing the money itself?

The mass meeting shouted down the city's proposal almost unanimously. The one person who kept it from being unanimous was a Negro preacher who praised the city's proposal — but he was interrupted by a heckler whose heckle broke up the meeting. She was a nice old Negro woman — one of his parishioners, perhaps — and what she shouted was: "Ah, shut up and sit down, parson—you don't pay no taxes now!"

Seriously, what the meeting objected to was that the largest contribution would have come from property owners, with the "federal grant" next — and the smallest contribution the city's. I upheld the objection then, and do so now.

It was city hall's opinion back yonder that the property owners objected to the dollar-total of their contribution — but I disagree. I think it was the distribution of the expense that beat the proposal . . . that and the inclusion of "federal aid."

Your newspaper believes the proposal should be revived along these lines:

1. Eliminate the "federal grant."
2. Hold to the original property owner's cost figure.
3. Increase the city government's share by the amount of the eliminated "grant."

The Star will support such a plan. Or the city may call for a referendum and we will support the plan in the election, even if it includes the issuance of revenue bonds against the Water & Light Plant.

You can't build or maintain streets without money. Here's a

LBJ Likely to Abandon Tax Boost

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources acknowledged today that President Johnson may reconsider his request for a July 1 tax boost if business continues to be sluggish.

This word, perhaps partly intended to reassure nervous businessmen, came from policy advisers who nevertheless stick to the official forecast that the 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes will be needed to curb reviving inflationary forces.

If signs of the anticipated midyear pickup are not visible by April or May, one high administration official said, "We are in a position to modify the surcharge request."

He explained: "If our projections were wrong, we could ask for a smaller surcharge, or no surcharge at all. Or the President's message to Congress could propose a later effective date — say Sept. 1 instead of July 1."

And if the slowdown should become a downturn — a development which government officials reject as well-nigh unthinkable, unless peace comes suddenly in Vietnam — the surcharge plan could even be thrown into reverse. A short-time tax cut could be asked.

The only hard and fast commitment is to the principle of tax flexibility, the official said. Small but frequent tax changes, up or down as needed, are now considered to be a proven, effective, quick-acting, and fairly precise instrument for economic stabilization, he added.

This departure from historic American reluctance to tinker with taxes was noted by the Council of Economic Advisers in its annual report to the President and Congress.

"Annual tax changes have, in fact, become the rule rather than the exception," the council said. But the technique — and especially the President's pending plan — is viewed with suspicion in Congress and with outright hostility by many businessmen.

In passing two anti-inflationary tax bills on short notice last year, Congress showed itself able and willing to break with tradition. Nevertheless, many members fear a 1967 tax increase could bring on a recession; others do not believe in any case that the tax rules should be changed for businessmen and consumers without substantial cause.

The administration argues that a stable economy is more important than a stable tax level. In the immediate future, officials said, the course of policy will be governed by the economic currents.

New economic readings will be taken when first quarter statistics are in hand, it was reported. If the January projections prove to be wrong about the hazard of overheating, the tax prescription will be changed.

Youth Acquitted in Sniper Shooting Held in Slaying of Two

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A youth just acquitted in the sniper shooting of another Rockford teen-ager was being held today, charged with murder in the execution-style slaying of two 14-year-old cousins.

Police arrested John Wesley Williams Jr., 17, son of a former sheriff's deputy, at his job Monday. Police said they believed others were involved in the double murder and questioned at least 10 of Williams' friends. No other arrests were made.

Sheriff Herbert Brown said police confiscated a .22 caliber rifle equipped with a telescopic sight and a homemade silencer in Williams' home. He said a 22-caliber pistol which Williams' father had given him one day before the slayings had not been found.

The rifle was sent to a state crime laboratory for comparative tests with the 22-caliber bullets fired into the heads and stomachs of the two boys.

Authorities said Ronald Johnson and Wayne Mullendore were lined up in a pavilion of Levings Park facing a concrete wall and shot down Thursday night.

Police were directed to the bodies by an anonymous caller. After questioning Williams for six hours Monday, Brown announced that charges had been filed. At the same time, the victim's father was charged.

Williams appeared in court Monday afternoon where the charges were read. He is being held in Winnetago County jail.

Judge John Ghent of Circuit Court scheduled a preliminary hearing for Wednesday morning.

Red Mortars Hit at Big U.S. Guns

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON (AP) — Communist mortars hammered again at the big American guns just south of the demilitarized zone today with 500 shells in three attacks as they kept up pressure on U.S. Marines operating in the area.

The shelling of Camp Carroll, latest in a series of such attacks, killed six Marines and wounded 15 but damaged none of the powerful 175mm guns with which the Marines shell North Vietnam and the demilitarized zone, a U.S. spokesman said.

The Communist failure to hit the big guns was attributed to the elaborate defenses which the Americans on the plateau eight and a half miles south of the demilitarized zone have thrown up for the artillery.

Counter-mortar fire resulted in one secondary explosion in the hills from which the Communists were firing, a U.S. spokesman said.

U.S. spokesmen reported 14 Americans killed, 44 wounded and four missing in ground actions Monday and Tuesday, along with 61 communist dead.

Two sizeable ground clashes were reported.

Several miles north of Camp Carroll a Marine patrol made contact with the Communists. Several companies of Marines were rushed up as reinforcements, and contact was maintained through the night, but the enemy — believed to be North Vietnamese troops — escaped this morning, a U.S. spokesman said.

In the other significant ground action, a U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, company in Binh Dinh Province came under heavy automatic-weapons fire from an estimated company of Viet Cong and called in air and artillery strikes. The firefight continued all day, but the enemy broke off in the early evening. A preliminary report said seven Americans and 50 Viet Cong were killed and 17 Americans were wounded.

Rockefeller, amid charges that he had agreed to let the bill become law without his signature, said Monday night in a recorded interview he would veto the measure today if the Senate did not recall it before it adjourned Monday.

The Senate did not recall the bill, and Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, one of its sponsors, said he would ask the legislature to override any veto. He did not say when he would attempt to do it.

Hurst charged in a Senate speech that Rockefeller told him and others on several occasions that he would not sign the bill, but that neither would he veto it. The governor has five days in which to veto the measure or let it become law without his signature.

About 200 persons gathered in the rotunda of the state Capitol Monday to ask Rockefeller to veto the bill, which would create a five-member commission to license private clubs and regulate their operation. The clubs would be permitted only in Hot Springs. They would pay an annual $10,000 license fee and an 8 per cent gross receipts tax.

In a taped speech over 10 television stations in Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee, Rockefeller said he intended to see that flagrant, illegal gambling was stamped out in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — It was an even bet today that the Arkansas Senate would attempt to override Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's veto of a bill to permit casino gambling in four private clubs at Hot Springs.

Rockefeller, amid charges that he had agreed to let the bill become law without his signature, said Monday night in a recorded interview he would veto the measure today if the Senate did not recall it before it adjourned Monday.

Strongman Appeals for Sukarno

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia's military strongman, Gen. Suharto, appealed to the Indonesian Congress today not to dismiss President Sukarno from his now powerless post.

Suharto told the opening of a congressional session called to decide the president's future that his dismissal could trigger bloodshed and split the country. He said he would not be active in politics and government fields and will not hold leadership in government by actual physical means," said Suharto, to whom Sukarno has ceded all of his executive powers.

Some of the 635 members of Congress immediately expressed opposition to Sukarno's retention. One student leader labeled Suharto's request a compromise which he said the students would never accept.

The Congress has before it a resolution unanimously adopted by Parliament demanding that Sukarno be stripped of his office.

The decision is expected Saturday or Sunday.

Hoffa Due to Enter Prison Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa surrendered today to begin serving an eight-year federal jury tampering sentence and said "beware of losing your constitutional rights."

Hoffa, 54, still contending his conviction was a result of a federal vendetta against him, said "If the government can do this to Hoffa, it can do it to anybody."

Hoffa was to be fingerprinted and then taken by car and plane to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, apparently a loser after a decade of federal efforts to jail him, is scheduled to surrender today to start serving an eight-year sentence for jury tampering.

"We'll turn him in," said one of Hoffa's sad-faced battery of lawyers Monday after losing their latest court plea to keep him free.

It's just a short walk from Hoffa's spacious Teamsters office to the U.S. Courthouse, but it could be the beginning of a long road down from his pinnacle of power as boss of the world's biggest labor union.

Hoffa, 54, is scheduled to surrender to U.S. marshals at 9 a.m., be fingerprinted and then taken by car and plane to the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

The schedule would put Hoffa in a cell at about noon.

"I'm sorry, I'm sorry," attorney Daniel Maher told Hoffa over the telephone after losing a bid in the U.S. Court of Appeals Monday to keep Hoffa free under $75,000 bond pending the outcome of new trial motions.

"Pretty miserable," was the way one loyal Hoffa aide described the mood in the Teamsters' huge marble headquarters building near the U.S. Capitol. Some secretaries were in tears.

Hoffa reportedly maintained his grim philosophical acceptance of his fate. He didn't even bother to take his appeal for a writ of habeas corpus to the U.S. Supreme Court, which had already twice rejected his appeals.

"He's not cracking up," said one Hoffa aide tersely.

And, Teamsters sources said, Hoffa was so resigned to losing he had said his goodbyes to many union officials last Friday.

As Hoffa moved nearer jail, police in New York City placed a guard on Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and his Manhattan apartment because of a long-standing threat on Kennedy's life if Hoffa ever went behind bars.

Police Commissioner Howard Leary called the guard "four-time."

A Kennedy aide said that at least a year ago the Kennedy staff "received information" that Kennedy's home would be bombed if Hoffa were jailed.

At Hoffa's 1964 jury-tampering trial, the chief prosecutor said the government's chief witness "reported (to the FBI) a threat by James Hoffa to kill the attorney general" — Kennedy. Hoffa later told newsmen, "I deny it, it's a lie."

Police in McLean, Va., said they were taking no precautions to guard Kennedy's suburban Washington home.
